

All room proportions are approximate and subject to change, at builder's discretion, due to variations in market conditions or as a result of elevation differences.